

ANNELI BLUME

Performing publicly since kindergarten, 12-year-old singer Anneli Blume has spent the last three years impressing audiences of all ages, and even earned recognition from her idol, Bonnie Raitt.

Working under the direction of friend and musical mentor Diana Winn, founder of Re-Bop Records, Anneli (ah-nuh-LEE) has been featured at several family events with The Unknown Blues Band and B.B. King sideman Big Joe Burrell, swingin' Boston-based band Bellevue Cadillac, Memphis-born jazz and blues vocalist Sandra Wright, and a diverse mix of talented musicians and kids.

She can be heard belting out the blues on Re-Bop Records' latest release Even Kids Get The Blues and harmonizing sweetly on the five-time award-winning recording WHAT IS IT? Musical Math & Science.

OTHER INTERESTS

Anneli is a budding songwriter, an avid downhill skier, and a bookworm. She loves animals and nature, but her passion is music. She has been especially influenced by Bonnie Raitt, and also admires Loretta Lynn, Patsy Cline, Linda Ronstadt, Sheryl Crow, Rosanne Cash, Sippie Wallace, Alison Krauss, and Sandra Wright. But her biggest musical role model and inspiration by far is her father, Ed. She takes lessons in guitar, piano, and dance.
